

Abstract

The present invention refers to a biodegradable stent, comprising an SMP material for use in the non-vascular and vascular field.